

Carrie Lineberger is currently the band director at Belmont Middle School in Belmont, NC where she has taught for the past sixteen years. She earned her Bachelors degree from Appalachian State University in Music Education and her Masters degree from Winthrop University in Instrumental Wind Conducting. Her bands have received Excellent and Superior ratings at the SCDBA MPA performing in grade II and III.

Active as a performer, Mrs. Lineberger has performed as a flutist with the Carolinas Wind Orchestra in conference performances for the NC Music Educators Association, SC Music Educators Association, American Bandmasters Association and the Festival Internacional de Bandas de Musica in Spain. Mrs. Lineberger has been recognized as New Teacher of the Year from Belmont Middle School and Band Director of the Year from the Gaston County Band Directors Association. She holds professional memberships with the Music Educators National Conference, North Carolina Bandmasters Association, South Central Band Directors Association, Gaston County Band Directors Association, American School Bandmasters Association and Pi Kappa Lamda Music Honor Society.

Mrs. Lineberger lives in Mount Holly, NC with her husband, Joel, and her children Emma, Hannah and Wyatt.